FACT SHEET

Contact Industries leads the profile wrapping and flat lamination industries by providing unparalleled technical expertise, product quality and resource efficiency. Contact Industries built its good name by manufacturing custom engineered components delivered with the highest level of professional service. Offering both interior and exterior grade wood-wrapped products, the company is at the forefront of developing engineered millwork components.

Contact uses state-of the art technology to profile wrap virtually any species of veneer over most any substrate, giving the final product the appearance of solid, clear lumber. The company produces a wide range of millwork components used by OEMs, architects, and designers, often creating custom pieces to meet the most exacting specifications. Contact Industries is also one of the leading manufacturers of door and window components.

In the early 1980s, Contact saw tremendous market opportunity to apply the latest technology to make better use of valuable wood resources. Since then, Contact Industries has invested heavily in sophisticated manufacturing equipment in order to provide high quality components that are also resource efficient. Innovative processes and environmentally responsible manufacturing practices, combined with a steadfast commitment to quality, have helped Contact remain an industry leader for over two decades. The company boasts both the ISO 9001:2000 and Forest Stewardship Council (FSC) chain-of-custody certifications.
